PROGRESSIVES' GAINS GIVE THE STALWARTS PAIN

Radical Democrats Make Big Advances and Conservatives Are Much Worried

CLARK MEN WOULD PROGRESS

Earnest Denials Made by Speaker's Forces that He Is Now a Stand-patter

COMING BACK INTO LINE

Word from Home Starts Many Delegates Into Ranks of Bryan Adherents

BALTIMORE, Md., June 27.—No compromise, was the slogan today of the progressives in the democratic national convention. With the ancient and time honored rule shattered so far as the state of Ohio and all others where delegates were chosen in direct primaries are concerned, the progressives were insisting that they would yet show that this was a radical gathering, both so far as the candidate and platform were concerned.

Standpatters Still Hope
This rejoicing was confined to the rank and file. The leaders, while very hopeful were still convinced that the conservatives were far from being completely routed. They believe that they will try to regain much of their lost ground by abandoning everything else and concentrating all of their strength on the nominee.

Clark Worried
Leaders pointed out, while a progressive platform will be an excellent thing, unless the man named on it is absolutely in sympathy with the cause there will be no assurance that its pledges will be enforced. They called attention to the fact that the combined conservative strength, added to Clark's pledged votes, would make the necessary two-thirds. The Clark managers are admittedly worried over the charge that they have "tied up" with the conservatives in order to nominate their man. Positive and emphatic denials of these charges have been issued, but to each the Wilson men point to the vote against Bryan for temporary chairman, and the vote in the national committee against Ollie James for temporary chairman and show that neither show that either of these reverses would have been victory if the Clark men had voted with progressives. That Clark must be successful early in the balloting is the admission by his closest lieutenants.

The Clark men claimed that on a proposition to drop the two-thirds rule they would have the support of all the followers of other candidates, with the exception of the Wilson men. But democrats who are in favor of no particular candidate say that if the Clark men try this, there will break about their heads a storm that will destroy their candidate. It is pointed out that the two-thirds rule was adopted to prevent stampedes, or "trading" of delegates and that the rank and file of the party would bitterly resent any abrogation.

Switch to Progressives
While the delegates were discussing candidates and getting ready for the lineup today, the party leaders were analyzing the vote taken just before adjournment last night on the abrogation of the unit rule. The fact that 555 1-2 delegates voted for this rule was considered significant. While Woodrow Wilson gained the votes by this action, and Judson Harmon, in the opinion of leaders, was eliminated as a serious presidential possibility, the real gainers were the democrats of the west, who advocate direct primaries. Incidentally, it was noted that a large number of delegates who voted against Bryan on the temporary chairmanship and who have felt the force of the Nebraska's prophecy that they "would hear from home" took advantage last night of the chance to vote to split the Harmon strength in Ohio.

Delegates are still looking for a chance to "come through" on a proposition whereby they can more directly show that they did not intend any harm when they voted with the "allies" against Bryan for the temporary chairmanship.

Wilson Men to Fight

The ten Wilson delegates from South Dakota who were uneaten late Wednesday by the credentials committee, and their places given to Clark men, were prepared to fight the contest out on the floor. E. N. Johnson, national committeeman and democratic nominee for governor, was backing the claims of the Wilson men.

BRYAN THANKS DELEGATION

Commoner Appreciates the Loyal Support of Wisconsin Men in Struggle for Temporary Chairman

FIFTH REGIMENT ARMY, Baltimore, Md., June 27.—(Special to The Tribune.)—The democratic convention is slowly but surely coming over to Governor Wilson. The Wilson demonstration last night surpassed anything witnessed in national conventions since the Bryan stampede in 1896.

The committee on resolutions this morning selected Bryan and Senator O'Gorman to draft a tentative platform, insuring the report of a progressive declaration of principles. The Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, Texas, New Jersey and Minnesota delegations are the most potent factors in the convention, and the Wilson men in the delegations of all other states are urging them to stand firm until they are honorably released from their instructions and they will come to the rescue. The reported Clark combination with Murphy has done the former irreparable injury and has convinced sincere progressives that he cannot be relied upon. At Washington yesterday Speaker Clark protested to a Wisconsin contingent that he was innocent of the conduct of his supporters in aiding Parker as against Bryan, but his protestations are not regarded as sincere.

Wisconsin was an important factor in the Chicago convention; it is equally important in the Baltimore convention. Wisconsin was a force for a truly progressive program in the Chicago convention; it is equally and more unitedly a force for progressive principles in Baltimore.

The Badger delegates stood a unit for Bryan and against Parker in the fight over temporary chairman, and received the personally expressed thanks of William J. Bryan for their loyalty.

Chairman Davies has been made a member of the steering committee having in charge the task of securing the election of Wilson in the success of which all admit Mr. Bryan is deeply interested, and is taking a conspicuous part in the labors of the committee.

The Badger delegation is all for Bryan, in case by any possibility he is forced into the field as a presidential candidate. With the exception of a few Clark delegates, they are prepared to fight for Wilson to the last ditch. Should this fight fail, and should Bryan decline to get into the race, they would accept his second choice, Kern, as their own.

William F. Wolfe of La Crosse, member of the resolutions committee, is making that body take notice of his demand that a plank be adopted in the platform favoring an income tax. This plank has considerable support among the delegates. Mr. Wolfe is fighting side by side with Mr. Bryan for a truly progressive platform.

Adolph Schmitz, William F. Wolfe and Key Karel are the men being discussed for governor here. Karel is personally popular, but is said to be handicapped by a reactionary record; at least, he is not up to the progressive standards of either Schmitz or Wolfe. Schmitz seems to have the strongest following.

At a caucus, Madison, was elected to continue as the Badger state's member of the democratic national committee.

BRYAN DENIES TALK OF HENEY INTERVIEW

BALTIMORE, June 27.—Reports that Francis J. Heney, one of the chief lieutenants for the republican progressives at the Chicago convention, had told Col. Bryan that if Mr. Wilson were nominated by the democrats there would be no third party, were emphatically denied on Col. Bryan's behalf today. It was stated that Heney's "conference" with Mr. Bryan was only a brief greeting, along with a line of other handshakes.

BULLITT TAFT'S CHOICE

WASHINGTON, June 27.—It was learned at the White House today that President Taft will immediately offer the solicitor generalship, made vacant by the resignation of Frederick W. Lehmann, to William Marshall Bullitt of Louisville, Ky., and New York.

"PEERLESS LEADER" AND HIS WIFE, ON THEIR ARRIVAL AT BALTIMORE, GET OVATION LIKE TEDDY RECEIVED AT CHICAGO

Upper picture shows Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Bryan on their arrival at Baltimore; lower picture shows newspaper photographers awaiting arrival of Nebraska and wife.

When W. J. Bryan and his wife alighted from the train at Baltimore to attend the democratic convention, they were cheered by thousands of admirers who had gone to the station to give them a welcome. The ovation was much like that given to Mr. Roosevelt on his arrival in the Kindy city on the eve of the republican national convention. Mr. Bryan is proving one of the most popular figures at the big democratic doings in Baltimore. His growing popularity is something which many politicians fail to understand.

WOMAN DELEGATE IS FOR COMMONER

May Arkwright Hutton of Spokane Would See Bryan the Nominee

STRONG FOR THE SUFFRAGE

Points with Pride to Accomplishments of Western Women Voters

BALTIMORE, June 27.—May Arkwright Hutton, (omit the Mrs. at her request) is from Spokane, Wash., and she is one of two women delegates to the democratic national convention. She is instructed for Champ Clark, but she wants William J. Bryan to be nominated, and does not hesitate to say so. "I told you so," was her first word as she alighted from a taxicab at the Belvidere. Taft was nominated. I'll tell you something else. Champ Clark may be accepted by this convention, but William Jennings Bryan ought to win this time. I'll obey instructions to vote for Clark as long as he has a chance, but after that I shall vote for the Nebraska, instructions or no instructions.

More Women in 1916
"There will be only two of us women in this convention, but in 1916 if we don't have 22, I'll be a bitterly disappointed woman."

Mrs. Hutton deplored the fact that only six states in the union had adopted suffrage and enfranchisement of the women, and declared that the movement was yet in its infancy—just a state issue.

"Yes, woman's place is the same as man's when it comes to voting. However, I do not say that women should run for office until they break into the game. I'm no tenderfoot, dear me, no; why, I've voted for sixteen years."

"Certainly, women should have a ballot. They need it for the same reasons men do—for their protection. The mother needs it for the protection of her children and for the selection of the men who make the laws that they are governed by. The workingman—and there are over 8,000,000 of them according to the 1910 census reports—needs it for the protection of their positions. Many women support their husbands and children, and protection of the laws that they are governed by. They have no guarantee them a fair deal. You ask what we want. Well, I'll CHICAGO, June 27.—Mrs. Louise Vermilya, accused of poisoning several persons was released today on $5,000 bail by Judge Sullivan. The jury in her first trial disagreed and a new trial was ordered. Meanwhile Mrs. Vermilya will go to Michigan to visit relatives.

FOURTH PARTY PLAN SEEMS IMPROBABLE

BALTIMORE, Md., June 27.—With increasing indication that Mr. Bryan will be able to control the platform and that a candidate satisfactory to him and the progressives will be nominated, the chances for a Bryan-La Follette third party movement are fading. Theodore Roosevelt's declaration that he will insist upon being the presidential candidate in his third party program is taken as notice to Bryan and La Follette that he does not court an alliance with them, even were that possible, and stamps his movement still more distinctly as a personal propaganda.

PLATFORM TO BE WORK OF BRYAN

Commoner and O'Gorman Are Given Privilege of Writing It to Suit Themselves

MAKES TAMMANY TIGER MAD

Progressive Control of Resolutions Committee Puts Bryan's Plans Through With Haste

BALTIMORE, June 27.—William Jennings Bryan tore another chunk from the hide of the Tammany "tiger" today when he and Senator O'Gorman of New York were chosen to write every word of the entire platform. They began work at 11 o'clock, upon adjournment of the resolutions sub-committee. At 4 this afternoon they will report their anti-Tammany draft to the sub-committee and at 7 o'clock tonight have it adopted by the whole committee. It will be presented tomorrow to the convention.

Routed by Strategy

Bryan completely routed the Murphy-Sullivan-Taggart combine by strategic moves in the sub-committee. When the eleven members met at 10 this morning, they mulled over rough draft planks. Then Senator Culberson of Texas suggested that Bryan and O'Gorman be entrusted with the composition work for the sub-committee. It went through with a whiz. Bryan and O'Gorman were then told to get down to business immediately.

Senator O'Gorman is considered almost as progressive as Bryan, but the latter is expected to dominate. Tammany has little solace in O'Gorman's partnership with Bryan. The Tammany platform is in the scrap heap. It will receive only "due consideration" by the two platform composers.

Senator Kern, chairman of the resolutions committee, was ill and unable to attend the meeting today. O'Gorman and Bryan were the rulers of the resolutions "roost." The other New York members of the sub-committee decided against having any more persons with platform ideas appear today for hearings. They decided Bryan and O'Gorman should be trusted with the whole job. Other members of the general and sub-committee wished to join in the convention proceedings, but Bryan and O'Gorman are left alone to dictate every plank. Tonight, it is expected, the Bryan-O'Gorman draft will be adopted by the general committee with little opposition.

JAMES' SPEECH IS PROGRESSIVE

Permanent Chairman in a Fiery Speech Denounces the Republican Party

INVITES COLONEL TO RANKS

Says if Roosevelt Would Do the Right Thing, He Must Become a Democrat

FIFTH REGIMENT ARMY, Baltimore, Md., June 27.—In a speech in which he attacked both Taft and the republican party, and held up the Chicago convention to ridicule, Ollie James of Kentucky, Bryan man and newly chosen permanent chairman of the democratic convention, this afternoon sounded a progressive keynote when he made his opening speech.

He said in part: "Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of the Convention: I am deeply grateful to this great convention of patriotic American democrats for the great honor you have bestowed upon me in calling on me to preside over your deliberations while you select the next president of this great republic."

"I congratulate the democrats of the nation upon the fortunate auspices under which we have assembled. No charge of bribery hovers above this hall, no cry of thief and robber is hurled by one fellow democrat at another. No soldiers stand in reserve to keep us from each other's throats. Our deliberations here shall be for the country's good."

Scores Republicans

"There are two records that will be presented to the American people in the coming campaign for their consideration. One is the record of the republican party with promises betrayed arrogantly, and the other is the record of the democratic party of promises faithfully and honestly kept."

James reviewed the tariff legislation of the democratic house and bitterly arraigned Taft for his vetoes of the revision bills, declaring that the trusts stood behind the republican party to this end.

"I believe," he said, "in the rigid enforcement of the Sherman anti-trust law. I would not proceed against these great monopolies in equity, and when I found them guilty tell them not to do so any more or to divide their army of pillage into separate marauding bands, but would proceed against them under the criminal statutes and place upon them the felon's stripes."

Taft and T. R.

"President Taft did not take time to carry out, but he kicked out the Roosevelt policies. The atonement that Roosevelt offers the American voters that he succeeded in deceiving by the election of Taft is in presenting to them the one who made the mistake, who is himself. The American people fear he will be as much mistaken as he was in President Taft. The atonement is not sufficient. If he wants to come with a clean hand and a clear conscience let him join with us."

Praises Bryan

"The progressive spirit that sweeps this country now is called by some the principles of the progressives, by others, the doctrines of the insurgents; but back yonder when a voice in the western wilderness cried out for them, they were called the vagaries of Bryan, the dreamer. However much we may differ in national conventions upon minor questions, all just men must admit that the one living American whose name will shine in history studied by a thousand flaming stars along behind that of Jefferson and Jackson, is that of William Jennings Bryan of Nebraska."

COURTESY TO "BOB" DISPLEASES BURKE

BALTIMORE, Md., June 27.—Congressman Michael Burke of Beaver Dam (democrat), has a grievance against the Wisconsin national committee. It seems that Senator La Follette applied some time ago for tickets to the democratic convention. By mistake the La Follette tickets were sent to Congressman Burke's office at Washington. The congressman opened the envelope without looking at the superscription, and discovered that Mr. La Follette had received twice as many tickets as were sent to Mr. Burke.

MRS. TAFT TO BALTIMORE

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Mrs. W. H. Taft left for Baltimore early today to attend the democratic convention, as the guest of Mrs. Hugh Wallace, wife of one of the delegates.

WILSON MEN ARE SEATED IN SOUTH DAKOTA CONTEST

Decision of Credentials Committee Is Reversed on Floor of the Convention

NEW YORK GOES TO WILSON

Murphy Decides Clark Cannot Be Chosen and Switches His Ninety Votes to Jerseyite

CHEER RIVAL CANDIDATES

Demonstration Lasting 22 Minutes Started, with Wilson Boomers in the Lead

BALTIMORE, June 27.—Wilson stock took a decided boom this afternoon when on the vote to seat the Wilson delegates from South Dakota, Tammany and the ninety New York votes and Roger Sullivan and the fifty-eight Illinois votes took their stand in favor of the New Jersey governor.

As to the returns for the move developed that an interesting conference was held last night between Roger Sullivan and the Tammany chieftain at which the former endeavored to convince the New York leader that the rank and file of the party stands for a progressive candidate.

Murphy Sees Light

It is said that Sullivan left Murphy's room without securing the latter's promise to desert Clark but the action of the New York delegation today indicated that Murphy had "seen a light." Prior to the vote on South Dakota the word went around that the Roger Sullivan delegates who are instructed for Clark had entered into a compact with the Wilson people by which the latter agreed to vote to seat the Sullivan delegates from Illinois this afternoon in return for a promise from Sullivan to throw the Illinois votes to Wilson after they had complied with their instructions by voting for Clark on the first ballot.

The vote on the South Dakota contest, increasing the progressive lead over the lineup last night on the unit rule, gave the Wilson supporters a great deal of encouragement and emphasized the earlier statement of Colonel Bryan that there would be a change of attitude on the part of the delegates once the "corn fields voiced their opinion" of the vote on the temporary chairmanship.

The session of last night in the torrid atmosphere of the convention hall was reflected in the democratic national convention delegates today. The usual congestion in the corridors of the hotels did not materialize until long after the usual hour, and when the doors were thrown open at 10 o'clock there was only a handful of delegates and spectators at the main doors, and none at all at the side entrances.

Buy Noise Makers

Because of a belief that the convention was certain to reach the noon hour, delegates were urged to buy noise makers.

PLATFORM DRAFT IS PROGRESSIVE

Bryanites Control Resolutions Committee and Put Their Ideas Into the Planks

TARIFF FOR REVENUE ONLY

Chief Plank Against Protective Duty; Would Limit President to Six Year Term

BALTIMORE, June 27. — Fairly shouting progressivism, a rough draft of a platform, drawn largely by William Jennings Bryan, was presented today to the resolutions committee by the sub-committee in charge of its preliminary formation. The whole committee met at eleven o'clock, following a midnight debate and another early morning session today of the sub-committee. The rough draft presented today was not complete, but many planks are practically finished.

O. K. Tomorrow

Not before tomorrow is it expected that the complete platform will receive the final "O. K." of the committee, and be reported to the convention. The revolutionary program, suggested by Bryan, to adopt the platform after the nominations today, gave the committee more time to consider the party battle cry.

Two platforms are in process of preparation. Bryan and other progressives have control of the resolutions committee by an impressive majority, but a minority platform is possible. Tammany's platform so far has been ripped and broken to pieces. Most of the planks have been rejected, it is said. Similar fate was doled out to four or five other platforms.

From behind the locked doors of the sub-committee today details of the progressives' victory in drafting planks leaked out. A flat declaration for "a tariff for revenue only," is one of the leading planks. Another, limiting tenure of presidents to one term of six years, is aimed for principal use against Col. Roosevelt. The tariff plank was not completed. It is to be the last to be polished off.

The one-presidential-term plank, it is rumored, will not pledge the democratic candidate to its rigors, but will recommend adoption in 1917. Other tentative planks are: Condemnation of the Aldrich central bank scheme with recommendations for "safe and sane" remedial currency legislation; primary elections; direct election of senators; limited conservation of public resources; but declaring for development of Alaska; enactment of a generous workman's compensation law; independence for the Philippines; enactment of an "excise tax" law, or adoption of an income tax constitutional amendment; parcels post extension; limiting court's power in injunction and contempt cases; establishment of a department of labor; advocating a "seamen's relief" bill; against the "gag rule" for government employees; against competition between "free" and convict labor, and radical strengthening and enforcement of the Sherman anti-trust law.

Perpetuate Old Meanings.

"Ballot" and "suffrage" show how language perpetuates the memory of primitive methods. A "ballot" should be a vote taken with balls—one of the various ancient Greek instruments of secret voting. And the word "suffrage," which by some is derived from "suffrago," a knuckle bone or ankle bone, in that case recalls an early method of recording the vote.

As the Season Unfolds.

So then the year is repeating its old story again. We are come once more, thank God, to its most charming chapter. The violets and the may-flowers are as its inscriptions or vignettes. It always makes a pleasant impression on us when we open again at these pages of the book of life.—Goethe.

One Way.

"I'd like to make that proud man bite the dust." "Then why don't you get your maid to sweep the pavement some morning when he's coming along?"

THE FIRST GRAY HAIR SIGN OF AGE

Easy Way to Preserve Natural Color of the Hair and Make It Grow

A harmless remedy, made from common garden sage, quickly restores gray hair to natural color. The care of the hair, to prevent it from losing its color and lustre, is just as important as to care for teeth to keep them from discoloring. Why spend money for cosmetics and creams to improve the complexion, and yet neglect your hair, when gray hair is even more conspicuous and suggestive of age than wrinkles or a poor complexion? Of the two, it is easier to preserve the natural color and beauty of the hair than it is to have a good complexion.

All that is necessary is the occasional use of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, a preparation of common garden Sage and Sulphur combined with other valuable remedies for dry, harsh, faded hair, dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair. After a few applications of this simple, harmless remedy, your hair will gradually be restored to its natural color, in a short time the dandruff will be removed, and your hair will no longer come out but will start to grow as Nature intended it should.

Don't neglect your hair, for it goes further than anything else to make or mar your good looks. You can buy this remedy at any drugstore. You can buy a bottle, and your druggist will give you money back if you are not satisfied after using. Purchase a bottle today. You will never regret it when you realize the difference it will make in your appearance.

HOSPITALITY IS BALTIMORE RULE

Town Is Decorated Everywhere with Flags and Bunting Honoring the Democrats

THROW OPEN THEIR HOMES

Every Citizen Self-Appointed Reception Committee to Do the Honors of the Town

BALTIMORE, Md., June 27.—A national convention is an "event" in Baltimore. Not a citizen is missing any of the thrills. Hospitality rules and politeness is the order of the day. It is a poor house indeed that does not flaunt at least one flag, and several yards of bunting, and the hotels and downtown office buildings are a riot of color.

The town has prepared for a week of holiday and is going to have it, no matter who is nominated. Business, all but that of necessity, connected with the entertainment of the city's guests, practically is at a standstill.

Hotels are not the only bee hives of activity, as was the case at Chicago.

Open Homes

Owners of many fine old mansions of ante-bellum days have turned them over to candidates for use as headquarters, turned them over bodily, negro servants, family plate, libraries and all.

Today nearly every leading citizen was downtown, a self appointed reception committee of one to welcome each arriving contingent of the "great unwashed." The citizen who has no house to offer is giving his personal service. He has plastered his apartment with banners and cheerfully has he tramped many weary blocks showing strangers to lodging and meals.

And the women—they are legion and their hospitality and good will is not second to that of their men. Scores of pretty maids and comely matrons, in holiday dress, throng the hotels on the lookout for the wives of delegates, anxious to show them an enjoyable time. The wife of Mayor Preston has been on the job since the first strangers began to arrive, and she has planned to fill up the entire week with receptions and dinners.

In the two big hotels, and various scattered ones, where the candidates, and their boomer have their quarters, sweating youths in shirt sleeves may be seen busily pounding out typewritten stories for the newspapers to print—pathetic yarns of Champ Clark's boyhood, Judson Harmon's tender solicitude for a decrepit old man, and the tremendous ovation tendered somewhere to somebody because he was a Princeton man and went to school to Woodrow Wilson. The newspapers do not print such things, and the youths know it, but they harbor a fond belief that in some mysterious way their effusions will make votes for their candidates.

The delegate, as he leaves his room

in the morning, is confronted with a Harmon lithograph tacked to the corridor wall and in the elevator he encounters a living likeness of the speaker, while a glaring "win with Wilson" streamer assaults his eyes as soon as he steps out into the hotel lobby. Baltimore this week is seeing a sort of "ingenue" politics that belongs to the day of torchlight procession, the beaver hat, and the log cabin on wheels.

The Effects of Opiates.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotic, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying powers are a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them willfully with narcotics.

Castoria contains no narcotics if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Hints to Lovelorn Gents.

If she makes a practice of eating onions for supper every time you call, it is a sign that she is indifferent toward your suit.

If you spend a lot of money sending flowers to her every day it may make a hit with her, but she will marry somebody who has more sense.

Don't talk to her about love in a cottage. Talk about a brownstone bungalow and spring the cottage on her after you get her.

Alcohol for Boys? Go To Your Doctor

Ask your doctor how often he prescribes an alcoholic stimulant for children. He will probably say, "Very, very rarely." Ask him how often he prescribes a tonic for them. He will probably answer, "Very, very frequently." Then ask him about Ayer's non-alcoholic Sarsaparilla as a tonic for the young.

DEMOCRATIC LEADERS ASSEMBLING AT BALTIMORE DISCUSS CANDIDATES, ISSUES AND THE CHANCES OF PARTY SUCCESS

Senator Payntor and Norman E. Mack (at the left), John H. Preston and Thomas Taggart.

Democratic leaders from all parts of the country are assembling in large numbers at Baltimore. Thomas Taggart, prominent Indiana Democrat, is there. He will have something to say as to what candidate shall receive Indiana's vote when Marshall gives up, if he does. Norman E. Mack is director-general of the convention. What he says will go a long way when it comes time to make up the party platform. Among the vice-presidential possibilities is John H. Preston, former mayor of Baltimore, whose friends are grooming him for second place. Senator Payntor, as Kentucky's only representative in the upper branch of Congress, will have something to say about the platform. There is an atmosphere of hopefulness about the Democratic headquarters in the convention hall, and discussion of candidates and issues is rife.

COURTESY MAKES
THIS SUGGESTION

North La Crosse complains of difficulty of securing the co-operation
of south side business men in getting
up a procession from the south side
for their Fourth of July celebration.
They have asked that a parade be formed on the south side to proceed
over the causeway and join the festivities there, and they now protest
that the merchants are tardy in giving assurance that they will furnish floats for this parade.

The North side business men want
the morning procession to be a success. They are spending approximately $1,000 on a celebration in which all La Crosse is interested. In an event of this kind much depends upon getting an early and favorable start, and for this reason the forenoon feature, the parade from the South side, is regarded as of vital concern. For us to "make good" for the ten thousand people
north of the causeway is a matter of justice as well as of courtesy.

All the north side asks the south side to do is to send a procession to the north side on Independence day.
In contemplating the request it may be well for the south side merchant
to bear in mind the fact that he is interested in a daily procession from the north side.

SHALL WE SHIRK THE
PROBLEM OF OLD AGE

By showing that at least one-half
of those who are living at the age
of 20 will be alive at 65, and that at least 40 per cent of these will be without means of support, Lee W.
Squier, through his book, "Old Age Dependency in the United States," is using a startling argument on the need of an adequate old age law.

Mr. Squier has computed the number of dependents over 65 in the United States as follows:

In correctional institutions, 15,180;
insane asylums, 53,544; almshouses, $6,128; benevolent homes, 71,024;
by public outdoor relief, 83,996; by private outdoor relief, 63,112; and
by United States and military pensions, 744,188.

This gives a total of 1,125,172,
which means an approximate expenditure annually of $178,699,958.

In Massachusetts the proportion of dependent old has been found to be 32 out of every 1,000. In Great Britain the figures are appallingly large, 172 out of every 1,000. This shows that care of the old is a problem which all the countries in the world are trying to solve, and that

the difficulties in the way of an equable adjustment are many.

During the year 1910 the United States government alone had 921,- 083 war pensioners on its list, the expenditure for the year being $159,- 947,056. At the same time the trade unions in the country paid
about $900,000 in disability and superannuated benefits, and other institutions supported large numbers of aged employees.

It is estimated that there are in this country at present about 2,500,- 000 persons wholly or partially dependent on others for their support.
This means that not less than 20
per cent of the entire adult population must in some way be taken care
of by the government.

Some financial provision for old age must be made. Either wages
must be increased, so that the proper
provision may be made by individuals, or the nation must have an adequate old age pension law. It is manifestly unfair to pauperize people by insufficient wages, and then make
these unfortunate suffer the odium
of living in institutions which are
quasi-criminal.

Old age should be dignified by securing comfort for all whose declining years render it necessary for them to rest from their labors. The government owes to these a debt
which should not be paid grudgingly.

BRYAN VICTORIES
AS BAD AS DEFEAT

"We know what kind of a convention we have and henceforth we can watch its developments with the assurance that nothing will be done
that has not the O. K. of Tammany's boss, and that he will not give his approval to anything until it has been submitted to Thomas Fortune Ryan
for his consent." —From a telegram
sent by Mr. Bryan to the Chicago Tribune.

Mr. Bryan understands. He knows that the Parker vote shows the real
purpose of the standpatters in control of the convention. He knows
he must force from the bosses all the real victories he gets in the way of platform and candidate.

Here is the picture of the political situation drawn by the editor of the Chicago Tribune:

For Chicago, substitute Baltimore.

For Barnes, substitute Murphy.

For Lowden, substitute Sullivan.

For Root, substitute Parker;
for Bradley, Woodson; for Pen-
rose, Guffey; for New, Taggart,
etc., etc.

Call it democratic instead of republican; a changed name, but
the same game.

Take knockout drops from the same bottle. On one side it is labeled "republican," on the other
other "democratic." It's the same bottle, and the Thomas F.
Ryan shake it well before pouring out a spoonful.

If special privilege can win
the fights within the parties it
has nothing to lose when they pretend to fight each other.

With progressive republicans
fighting every inch of the way
against fraud, Root was elected
temporary chairman of the convention in Chicago.

With progressive democrats
fighting every inch of the way,
Parker is elected temporary chairman in Baltimore.

After Root came Taft.

After Parker what?

Mr. Bryan has said things in the last two or three days indicating that he has in mind a plan to leave the convention in case it avoids committing itself frankly to democratic ideas. He should not recede from that position; he should not compromise with the reactionaries. He, himself, has "called the turn" on this convention. It is dominated by Ryan.
The air outside is purer.

How He Won.
It was just a peaceful village.
In a here unmentioned section.
Where the men who live by tillage
Cast their votes at each election.
There came sudden trouble welling
From a source no man was noting—
For women rose rebelling,
Till they got the right of voting.

'Tis man's way to deal in order
With his labors or his pleasures;
From the center to the border
Each in turn he weighs and measures.
But a woman wonders whether
Such a course is past suspicion
For to kill two birds together
With one stone is her ambition.

Thus to vote came all the ladies
In the village we went mention,
And the politicians Hades
Paved was with their good intention;
For in that untrammelled hour
Women rose to shame their teacher,
And they held a "ballot shower"
On a long-neglected preacher!

The Round Peg.
Judge Goodnow, in the court of
domestic relations in Chicago, said
recently:
"No man has a right to leave his wife night after night alone. She is foolish to stay home. She should go after him and bring him back
or else remain out with him."
"I agree," concluded Judge Good-
now, "with the suffragette who said,
'The right man in the right place is a husband at home in the evening.'"

Manager Wives.
Dr. Thomas W. Brophy of Chicago,
who claims that American mother-
hood is the highest type in the world,
was asked if this was not partly due
to the unusual amount of responsibility the American husband allows
his wife in family affairs.

"Quite true," Dr. Brophy replied.
"The confidence her husband places
in her makes the American mother
capable and self-reliant. The mother's share in a family's success or failure is a large one—much larger,
indeed, than most men will acknowledge."

"I see by the papers," a friend
once said to me, "that Footlights is traveling under his wife's management."

"So do most men," I replied, "but they don't advertise it."

The Uniform Of His Country.
First of all it should be understood that General Clarence Edwards
of the United States Army is a fine
figure of a man, having a face indicative of more than the average
amount of intelligence and a carriage
that was developed by the pride of youth and matured by running at high speed through the bolo-infested jungles of the Philippines.

One day he was standing on the street corner in Cincinnati when a young lady in a "swell" tailored suit
and a hurry stepped up to him with
this request:
"Say, mister, will you tell me what
car will take me to the zoo?"

The General, who is as polite as he is handsome—and that statement
contains neither sarcasm nor satire—
removed his military cap and put a

"Usin' Tiz Grandma?"

"Yes, Harold, It Makes Grandma's
Feet Feel Just Like Yours,
Free From Tiredness Aches
and Corns!"

"Your papa and mamma, your
grandpa and your grandma all use TIZ Harold. And you'll use it, too,
when you get to be a man. Then
your feet will never hurt, or get tired. That's why we all use TIZ."

Most of us get old, feet first. The bunions get stale, more wearisome
and painful. Corns get harder and more stubborn as the feet become more tender. At a time when old people need their feet most, they can use them less—unless they use TIZ.
If you have never used TIZ before,
your first use of it will bring back
some of your girlhood days. TIZ
will make your feet feel young,
strong and vigorous. They'll never be tender, never chafe or ache, never get blistered or swollen, and your corns, bunions and callouses will be no more. Nothing will do it or can do it like TIZ. Don't experiment with other things; other people have done that for you and they are all
now using TIZ.

TIZ acts on a new principle—
draws out all the poisonous exuda-
tions that make foot troubles.

HIS JOB WILL BE TO PRESERVE ORDER

In looking around for a man big enough to preserve order at their national convention, the Democrats
happily hit upon Mr. John W. Martin.
He is a big, good natured fellow, and
will doubtless fill the bill as sergeant-
at-arms in a manner that will satisfy the most order-loving Democrat.

few creases into his military uniform by convoluting his figure into a profound bow. Having made this preliminary pantomime, he gently informed the lady that it almost broke
his heart to say that he was a stranger in Cincinnati and unfamiliar
with the routes and personal habits
of the street cars.

"Well," said the girl, greatly irritated, "Why don't you know?
Ain't you a policeman?"

A Dull Job.

It was a Saturday noon and the
schoolteacher passing along the road
was surprised to see the ordinarily overactive Tommy sitting disconsol-
ately beneath a tree in front of the schoolhouse.

"Why, Tommy, my boy," he said,
pausing on his way, "what is the matter? Anything gone wrong?"

"None," said Tommy, giving an impatient wiggle.

"Where are the rest of the boys?"
asked the schoolmaster. "They haven't run away from you, have they?"

"Gone home to lunch," growled
Tommy, trying to talk and whistle
both at the same time.

"Well, why don't you go home to lunch too?" laughed the teacher.

"Can't," said Tommy. "You see,
Mr. Slinpsey, we're playin' war, and I've got to stay here until the other fellows get back. I'm the armistice."

With The Lid Off.

"Mother," asked Bob, with a hopeful eye on the peppermint-jar, "have I been a good boy this afternoon?"

"M-m-y-es," answered mother, dub-
bly, recalling a certain little rift
within the lute. The four-year-old diplomat looked anxious.

"Please," he begged, "say a wide-
open yes!"

Comparing Bumps.

The lady was talking to the professional chauffeur.

"Did you ever run over a dog?"
she asked.

"Yessum," he answered, cheerfully.

"Goodness! Wasn't it awful?"
"It sure was, ma'am."

"Did-did you ever hit a cow?"
"Twicet."

"Ugh! And—er—did you ever strike a human being?"

"Meaning a man? Yessum—oncet."

"Heavens! Didn't you faint?"
"No'm—I stuck to my wheel."
"But how did you feel? What was it like? How—what when—"
"Well, it was a bigger bump than a dawg, but it was lots softer than a cow. Otherwise it was sorter betwixt an' between!"

The MAN in the
BROWN DERBY

There was another long silence,
and I thought that I heard her sob
again very softly. Then her hand touched mine. "There is nothing to forgive," she said wearily. "Good night."

For a little while I stood in the hall, then I went into my own room,
leaving the door ajar. I sat in my chair by the window, dizzy and sick
and perplexed, wild hopes and dull
despair gripping me ever and in turn. Then I heard the soft click of her door again. She had set it ajar. I threw myself dressed upon the bed. In a moment I was asleep.

VI.
Adjustment.

I awoke rather late the next morning. In fact, my first glance
at my watch made me spring from my bed in horror. It was long past eight o'clock. There had been no sign of any servant about the place
the night before, and, all I knew, Nancy might have been up
an hour or so and waiting for her breakfast. I stripped and bathed hurriedly, dressing again rapidly
and smoothing out my rumpled
clothes as best I could.

One of my pockets bulged insistently, and I put in my hand to find out the cause of it. To my surprise,
I drew out the collar and necktie
that had been so suddenly left in my hand the night before. They were much torn but seemed to be of good make. I put them carefully in my drawer, with some vague idea of looking them over more closely in the future. I was irritated that the blouse on my forehead had blackened during the night. But I had no time to waste
over my personal appearance; so,
opening my door, I ran down-stairs,
with the guilty feeling that comes
of the consciousness of having over-
slept. Nevertheless I was strangely light of heart. I was very thankful
not to find Nancy waiting for me.

Some one was bustling about in the kitchen. It promised well.
Probably Ephraim Bond had engaged us a servant, after all. At least the fire would be lighted, I thought; that was half the battle.
With a fire I could make shift to get breakfast myself.

A little woman, done up in a great brown apron, was standing over the range as I came in. She turned a very rosy face to me as she heard my step. It was a new,
changed Nancy, the most absurdly
delicious little housewife imaginable.

"Good morning," I stammered;
"who made the fire?"
"I did, of course; there was no
one else awake when I came down."
She seemed faintly amused at my confusion. "I got along very well
by myself," she laughed. "I hope you like eggs. I was afraid to try anything more ambitious. Besides,
there wasn't a great variety of things in the cupboard. I shall have to do a great deal of marketing
today." She hesitated a moment.

"Have we any money?" With the question her color came, but she asked it sweetly and straightfor-wardly.

"I have fifty dollars," I replied.
"Your uncle gave me a hundred. I suppose that more will be coming in soon. I wish, though, that we weren't going to have to use that money; I hate the thought of it to-
day. Fortunately the fifty dollars
is my own, about all I have left."

Nancy laughed. "I don't think
that you need have any scruples
about using the income money. I am sure that you have been doing
all that a man could to earn it.
Uncle Ephraim never pays for more than value received."

"Leave us not talk of him," said I.
"or at least, not until after breakfast. Let me help you. I think I can make coffee."

Nancy paused abruptly in her
bustle of setting the kitchen table.

"Take off your gloves," she said.
"No one ever heard of a man making coffee in gloves."

"But—" I stammered, and stood

hesitating.

Nancy came over and stood squarely in front of me. "We might as well get over this foolishness
first as last. Take off your gloves."

I unbuttoned one very slowly; it frightened me that she should see
my hands again.

"Oh, take them off!" Then softly, and with her honest eyes looking into my shamed ones, "I am not afraid of your hands. I am very sorry, but I am not afraid. I am glad that they are all you have in your life to be ashamed of. You are too sensitive about your hands;
you think too much about them."

I wondered why she thought I
had nothing else to be ashamed of;
nevertheless I took off my gloves.
I know that new sight of my hands
in the broad daylight of the great,
old kitchen must have come to her
with something of a shock, in spite of herself, but she made no sign of distress, unless, perhaps, for a few minutes, she busied herself harder
with the table setting.

We made a merry breakfast of
it. I vowed, and so, truly, it seemed to me, that Nancy fried the eggs more beautifully than eggs
had ever been fried before, and Nancy said that never had French
chef produced a more delicious cup of coffee.

Breakfast over, we made ourselves ready for the long walk to the village. Nancy had got a little old straw hat from her trunk, a relic of her school-days, that she had kept because she had been happy in it, and in spite of the heavy coils of burnished hair, she looked simply a bewitching school-girl as she plinned it on. I said as much.
She looked up at me, her face
very rosy. "A young lady must look her best," she laughed, "when she takes the air with the lord of the manor, especially when he himself looks so great and strong, and haughty."

"That is not haughtiness," I
said; "that is pride."

"Is there any difference?"
"All the difference between sorrow and great happiness," I answered, and I thought that some of my new-found joy of life was reflected in her eyes.

UNIT RULE GOES BY THE BOARD

Democrats in Convention
Force Adoption of a New Progressive
Rule

BALTIMORE, June 27.—The progressives in the democratic national convention claimed a notable victory last night when they carried a motion abrogating the rule by which some state delegations are bound to cast their vote as a unit. The vote was 565 1-2 to 491 1-3.

The fight for and against the unit was waged particularly about the state of Ohio where 18 district delegates had been instructed by primaries to vote for Woodrow Wilson but where the state convention controlled by the Harmon forces are in had invoked the unit rule binding all Ohio delegates to the Ohio governor. Wilson gained and Harmon lost 18 votes from the Ohio delegation as a result of the fight. It was said the abrogation of the rule might lead to breaks in other delegations and this left the prenomination race last night in greater doubt than ever.

The fight over the unit rule carried the evening session well along toward midnight. The report from the committee on credentials then was received. As there was a minority report requiring discussion an adjournment was decided on until noon today.

THE COMMONER AT BALTIMORE

FREIGHT STRIKE BEGINS TO FAIL

The police guard about the freight houses was materially decreased today, the authorities anticipating no trouble from the men who are still on strike.

CITY LOSES POINT IN GAS PRICE WAR

CHICAGO, June 27.—Judge Kohl-saat today overruled the objections of the city of Chicago in the suit which the city was resisting in an effort to enforce the ordinance reducing the price of gas. The decision holds that the objections of the city to the complaint of the gas company were not well founded and that it is necessary that the gas company to prevent the reduction in gas prices here be tried before the court.

Lower gas was one of the campaign promises of Mayor Harrison, and the gas company charged that this ordinance was merely an attempt on his part to fulfill a pre-election promise and that there is nothing to justify a decrease in prices.

STORMCENTER SNAP SHOTS - By "Sat"

NORMAL RACQUET BEST EVER ISSUED

The Racquet Year Book of the normal school has made its appearance, and it is a work of art and a credit to the makers. Under the direction of Howard Jones, editor-in-chief, the staff of the school organ has succeeded in making a book which will be a model for future publications. It bristles with a wealth of cuts and drawings of the students. The faculty are there in picture and pantomime, the athletic teams, literary and debating societies, musical organizations and classes have their cuts, and the appearance of the book shows much painstaking care, making this about the best annual thus far issued. Hallie Roberts has been elected to head the editorial staff for next year's Racquet.

The catalogue for next fall's term of school for the state normals has been issued from Madison, and is a large book containing the courses of each normal in the state. Formerly each school had its individual catalogue, and the present bulletin in a way destroys some of the individuality of each institution. Most of the space is given up to the description of the courses as are offered at each normal, the courses being uniform throughout the state. La Crosse normal was generously allowed five pages in the back part of the catalogue, but it is hoped that a separate bulletin will be issued describing the courses more minutely at the local institution.

ROOSEVELT SAYS HE WON'T RESIGN

NEW YORK, June 27.—Following Col. Roosevelt's declaration at Oyster Bay, that he personally would lead the new progressive party and that no compromise leader would be acceptable to him, Senator Dixon today held conferences at the Hotel Manhattan with progressive leaders from several states. During the day there was to be a conference in the senator's rooms, participated in by George W. Perkins, Comptroller Prendergast, Frank A. Munsey, and others. Senator Dixon said that plans for the formal organization were well under way, but he would make no statement or comment on Colonel Roosevelt's assertion that he accepted in good faith and had no intention of abdicating in favor of any other progressive leader.

CAN'T STOP NEW PARTY, SAYS JUDGE

DENVER, June 27.—That the action of the democratic convention in Baltimore will have no effect to prevent the organization of a new party, is an opinion expressed today by Judge Ben B. Lindsay upon his return from Chicago. He is convinced that even the nomination of Bryan in Baltimore would not prevent the speedy consummation of the work started at the Chicago convention by the Roosevelt delegates towards the formation of an independent progressive party. Lindsay says the "time is right for a new progressive party. There are other progressive democrats besides myself who are keenly interested in the movement, but who are not ready to announce themselves until after the result at Baltimore."

NORTHWEST NEWS

FREIGHT HANDLERS STRIKE AT AN END

ST. PAUL, June 27.—Indications are that the freight handlers' strike will be formally declared at an end within the next day or two. It is reported that eighty of the strikers were taken back by the Northern Pacific road today. They are employed at the Northtown Junction yards.

The Great Northern road took all of the best men back a week or more ago. They discontinued housing the strikebreakers in box cars at that time. The Northern Pacific is still parking box cars at the transfer points, for sleeping quarters for the strikebreakers.

The strike has been in progress since May 27, but the railroad officials say they were never seriously crippled by it.

MAN KILLED IN NORTHERN FIRE

HIBBING, Minn., June 27.—One man was burned to death, two probably fatally injured and six buildings were destroyed by a fire in the French location, north of Hibbing, on Tuesday. Three families were burned out, while seventeen miners living in boarding houses had close calls.

SHOT BY UNKNOWN

IRON MOUNTAIN, Mich., June 27.—Albert Demmer, a farmer living near here, was shot through the body by an unknown person while at work on his farm. Deserted by his companion, who was with him at the time of the shooting, he lay for four hours in a swamp, suffering from loss of blood. When found by searching parties, the wounded man had crawled nearly a mile through the swamp and underbrush. Demmer was removed to this city. It is believed he will recover.

BALTIMORE SIDELIGHTS

BALTIMORE, June 27.—Perched among the gallery guests among the thousands of the convention today was a rooster, a real game cock, but despite his undisputed pedigree, he would not crow. His guardian who had anticipated some fun, grew melancholy as the minutes slipped by and the feathered emblem of democracy steadfastly maintained his silence. The guardian resorted to every method of solicitation, but all to no avail. It sat, with head down and his tail drooped, but refused to crow. To morrow he will be accompanied by a feathered friend in an effort to break his silence.

Sergeant-at-Arms Martin was searching the press reservation today for a bold newspaper photographer who last night created a diversion in the middle of Judge Parker's speech. The snapshot man rigged up his camera on the desk of one of the secretaries, about ten feet from the temporary chairman and standing but that distance away from the speaker, he suddenly fired a flash. The blinding glare so startled Parker that he lost the thread of his discourse. There was an instant rush of deputies to find the photographer, but he had grabbed his camera and fled.

The most remarkable thing in connection with the convention so far is the fact that no one, apparently, has tried to counterfeit the admission tickets. The Chicago convention visitors were beset with sharpers selling spurious pasteboards, and joke "passes" but the democratic admission cards are the most ornately engraved that have yet been in use in a convention, and police have yet to find any imitations.

Brokers' prices for tickets today are $5. They have been charging $15 but with few takers.

Counsel, aid and encouragement are chiefly received by William J. Bryan in his victories and defeats here from Mrs. Bryan. She, too, is an accomplished politician, able and resourceful, and a splendid talker as well. Her sympathy and advice was the first sought by Bryan after he was defeated for temporary chairman. He took a seat beside her in the gallery and did not sit with the Nebraska delegations. At Bryan's headquarters, Mrs. Bryan is constantly greeting men and women visitors alike, forming a reception committee with her daughter, Mrs. Grace Hargreaves.

Although the Baltimore police say that there has been no increase in the number of arrests since the convention, they admit that extraordinary precautions to maintain order are being taken. Detectives from Washington and Philadelphia have been drafted by the local authorities to watch for the "dips" and buncho men that always swarm where there is a crowd.

Private John Allen of Mississippi.

without whom no democratic national convention was ever complete, and without whose approval the nomination might be vitiated (there is no precedent for it never happened) is on the ground and delegates are breathing easier. The train from Tupelo was behind time, and Private John did not get here until after the convention was called to order. Standing with Senator Gumshoe Bill Stone of Missouri and two other cronies in front of the Belvidere, all saw a bevy of Baltimore belles passing and he eyed them intently—but not so intently that he missed the wistful look that Senator Stone cast in the direction of the ladies.

"Bill, you remind me of a country dog," Allen said.

"What do you mean?" demanded Stone.

"Didn't you ever see a country dog run out and chase a railroad train as it passed by the farm house?" asked Allen.

The senator responded that "of course he had."

"Well, Bill," concluded Private John, "that fool dog will run after that train every day and bark himself hoarse, but did you ever try to figure out what the dog would do with that train if he actually caught it some day?"

Representative Henry Clayton of Alabama has made a friend of a colored elevator conductor at his hotel, by a jocular retort to the youth's complaint when Clayton crowded in the lift. When the boy yelled "One more," at a pushing, squirming crowd seeking to enter his car, Mrs. Clayton stepped in. Representative Clayton followed, despite the protests of the conductor.

"Go on now, stop your trifling," said Clayton to the boy, in his richest southern drawl. "You go get married and you'll not want to be separated from your wife, either."

"Ah got a house in Baltimo', Bran' new carpet on the flo', Street car run by the do' Of my house in Baltimo'."

Delegates to the national convention are quite sure that this ancient ditty of the southland was composed long before they built the Fifth Regiment Armory, where the convention is being held. No street car runs by any of the score or more doors of the hall. The nearest cars are two squares away, and they do not run anywhere that the delegates want to go. There is not a car in sight when one emerges from the armory, and on all lines that are within walking distance one must transfer a time or two in order to get to the downtown district.

That the Indiana friends of John W. Kern of Indiana came to the convention expecting him to be a dark horse is evident from the lot of "Kern for president" buttons that are being worn by Indianaans today. The Indiana delegation is instructed for Governor Thomas R. Marshall.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, is conspicuous at the convention. He is here to urge platform planks on the injunction, restriction of immigration, extension of employers' liability laws and jury trial in cases of contempt.

Nebraska democrats and republicans are fraternizing like political friends, instead of foes, at the convention. Tickets are freely given the republicans visiting here at the Nebraska headquarters. Among the prominent republicans getting choice seats are former Senator Elmer J. Burkett and Senator Norris Brown. During ovations to Bryan, Burkett is one of the most wildly cheering.

A noticeable characteristic of the democratic convention is the predominance of young men among the delegates. Headless youth and sack suits prevail, and "slouch hats" long tailed coats, and string ties are so rare that they attract attention. Some of the old timers blame everything that goes wrong on the youthful element and apropos of an overheard comment along that line, John Sharp Williams of Mississippi recalled a story told, he said, by the late Senator George Graham Vest. Down in the Ozarks, the story ran, there was a man who owned a famous pack of hound dogs that everybody was interested in. One day Vest met him and asked how the dogs were getting along.

"Oh, the old dawgs are getting too old to run, and the pups muss up the trail," the man replied.

"And that's what some of the old growlers think is the matter with the democratic party," said Williams.

Mayor James H. Preston of Baltimore, and Mrs. Preston, Tuesday night held a reception for the delegates and alternates, and prominent convention visitors. Mayor Preston is an avowed candidate for the vice presidential nomination.

Elbert Hubbard is on the ground, "writing stories" for some newspaper. He attracts a lot of attention.

"Who's that fellow over there in the press section?" inquired an up-state senator.

"Elbert Hubbard," responded a friend.

"Worth any money?" pursued the senator.

"Lots of it."

"Then I respectfully suggest that he spend a quarter of a dollar of it for a hair cut."

The Chicago convention had its Peacock alley and its peacocks—very splendid birds of fashion who came to see and be seen.

The Baltimore convention is homespun like he that smokes five-cent cigars and stogies; it dines at the eat-while-you-wait restaurants; that

What Was This Woman?

If you are a judge of character, what part did this woman play in the Civil War? The last profession with which you would credit her is that of a spy—and yet this gentle-faced, determined, beautiful, high-born lady, reared in comfort, surrounded with every care from birth, risked her life constantly for the cause she loved.

This picture of Mrs. Greenhow, the confederate spy, with her daughter in the old Capitol Prison, is only one of hundreds of taken 50 years ago—now just discovered and brought to light, so that the world might learn the truth concerning the great conflict between the Blue and the Gray.

North and South, this man Brady, the greatest of all photographers and his daring assistants, was constantly at work portraying everything vital to the great struggle.

They were on the battlefields, in the cities, in the homes. They mingled in the street crowds, they were on the gunboats, in the forts. As a result, these priceless photographs, taken while the mighty struggle was on, show persons, events and conditions as no history has ever presented them. These remarkable pictures speak without bias, without prejudice—they speak the truth. In them you behold the humor, the tragedy and the stern reality of the four years' war, from the firing on Sumter to the surrender at Appomattox.

What We Have Done For Our Readers

PROMINENT DEMOCRATS ON THE SCENE AT BALTIMORE

Top left to right, Roger Sullivan, Dr. P. L. Hall, Senator-elect Vardaman; bottom, Charles Murphy, Mrs. Anne Pitzer, James Ross and R. M. Johnston (lower right-hand corner.)

One of the most important individuals at the Democratic national convention is Charles Murphy, the Tammany boss of New York. He holds 50 New York delegates in the hollow of his hand. James K. Vardaman, "the Gentleman from Mississippi," is a United States senator-elect and a delegate from his state. His long hair and pongee suit cause a flurry in the lobby of his hotel every time he appears. Mrs. Anne Pitzer is a sister of Mrs. Champ Clark and a delegate-at-large from Colorado. She will cast Colorado's twelve votes for her brother-in-law. Roger Sullivan is a delegate-at-large from Illinois, instructed for Champ Clark. He is one of Bryan's arch enemies. Dr. P. L. Hall and R. M. Johnston are national committeemen from Nebraska and Texas, respectively. James Ross, better known as "Jimmie" by his friends, hails from Columbus, Ohio, and is a Harmon booster.

SHAKEUP OF CLEVELAND NAPS PLANNED; SOME OLD VETERANS MAY HAVE TO GO

Willie Mitchell and Steve O'Neil.

A big shakeup of the Cleveland Naps in the American league is planned by President Somers of that club. The Naps are doing poor work, and give promise of ending up in the second division unless some radical changes are made. It is believed that by August 1 the team will have practically a new lineup. Butcher has already been dropped, and former Captain Olson may be traded to New York. A few other heads will be chopped off by the end of June. Willie Mitchell, the Naps' veteran southpaw, may be retained. Catcher Steve O'Neil will stay, and so also will Lefele, Griggs, Grez and Jackson.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD

Walter Johnson, recovered from his attack of tonsillitis, pitched his first game in two weeks, stacked up against his rival for speed, Joe Wood. But it was some game. The Red Sox made only four hits, the Senators three. Ten Speer Boys hit duly at the atmosphere, while nine Nationals struck out.

However, the teams evened up on the double-header. Griffith's men winning the first after an exciting ten inning battle.

Confidence in the Athletics' camp was badly shattered when the Yankees slugged Plank and Bender and won the first game. But in the second—it is better for the Yanks that the tale be left untold.

If the Giants win today it will be the fourth time this season they have run up nine straight victories.

Brooklyn had a chance to head the second division, but Southpay Tyler was in the way.

The Reds were pushed further down when Jurid Lew Richie handed them nine goose eggs.

Three singles and an error in the ninth turned apparent defeat into a victory for the Pirates.

Krapp gave five passes and the Tigers scored three runs for them, while Lake held the Naps safe.

Combinations for Rube Marquard's next two games: Eighteenth against Tyler of Boston; nineteenth against Rucker of Brooklyn. They will be battles of southpaws.

Goose eggs for the Browns placed Chicago in second place.

Growth of Checks.

The check has become, by the evolution of events, a document having a clearly defined legal status; its form is protected, like the bank note and the bond, against counterfeiting and alteration, and it is charged with the function of carrying on the world's exchanges with a convenience and safety and to an extent which give to it in many respects predominance over coin and bank notes.—Bankers' Magazine.

Grouch's Point of View.

"A holiday now and then is very desirable," said the genial citizen. "It gives us all a chance to rest." "I can't see it that way," replied Mr. Grouch. "It compels me to work that much harder to provide the clothes demanded for the special display."

The Unsought Thought.

The thoughts that come often unsought, and, as it were, drop into the mind, are commonly the most valuable of any we have, and therefore should be secured, because they seldom return again.—Locke.

ROCHESTER, Minn., June 27.—While La Crosse could not find Armstrong consistently, Rochester was hitting the ball in timely fashion and they bunched hits in the early innings, winning out by the count of 6 to 3. Pease relieved Morse after the second inning. The Outcasts scored all their runs in the eighth round when three hits gave them as many tallies. Score:

Truth.

"None of use," we are told, "likes his own qualities when he sees them reflected in others." Probably many respectable people will take it for a paradox in all good faith. For we all know that we live by choice with people who are like ourselves. We seek and ensue those of similar tastes, similar virtues and similar vices. And with people of different framework we are uncomfortable. Your good bourgeois gets on badly with people who are unconventional. Your Bohemian rages furiously when constrained to the society of the ordinary.

FIGHT IS HALF WON SAYS BRYAN

Commoner Fighting Hard and Confident of Victory Against the Conservatives

BRYAN NOT FOR ANYONE

Although Nebraskan Is Believed to Be Favoring Jerseyite, He Will Not Declare Himself

FIFTH REGIMENT ARMORY, Baltimore, June 27.—"The fight is already half won. There is nothing to say about what is left. There have been and there will be things happening, not only every day, but every hour."

Surrounded by a crowd that jammed the rooms in his hotel to suffocation, William J. Bryan today uttered the above defiant declaration when asked to outline his plans for continuing the fight on the Murphy-Taggart-Sullivan combination of conservatives who brought about his defeat for the temporary chairmanship of the democratic national convention.

Bryan had been up since 5 o'clock. He was without coat, vest or collar, and the perspiration was running down his face in streams. But he declared that he intended fighting throughout the convention, not only for the progressive platform but for the progressive candidate that he declared the democracy of the country was expecting to have named.

A determined effort was made today by the Wilson men to get Bryan to come out openly for the support of their candidate. He refused and called attention to the fact that he is instructed by the Nebraska democracy to vote for the nomination of Speaker Champ Clark.

But that there is an understanding between the Wilson leaders and the Nebraskan is certain. Many of the latter's closest friends are openly wearing Wilson buttons and there is always a hearty welcome at the Bryan rooms for the Wilson boomers.

Bryan was in earnest conversation for some time today with Herman Ridder of New York; John E. Lamb of Indiana; Senator Gore of Oklahoma; Senator Luke Lea of Tennessee; Senator Culberson of Texas, and a number of others before going to the meeting of the sub-committee on resolutions. Ridder was reported to have tried to "feel the Commoner out" on the question of candidates but did not receive much information.

With some of the other persons it was reported that Bryan discussed the plan of certain progressives who are instructed for Clark to change their votes before the roll call is announced on either the first or second ballots if New York's ninety votes were cast for Clark. These delegates, it is understood, say such action by New York would be an admission that the charge that Clark dealt with Murphy on the temporary chairmanship in return for promises of support was well founded. It is understood that Bryan positively refused to express any opinion regarding the wisdom of such a plan.

"I have not discussed candidates with anybody," was Bryan's comment today upon a rumor that he would "bolt" the convention if neither Wilson nor Kern is nominated. Bryan is throwing cold water on all "bolt" talk and industriously preaching harmony.

MACARONI SAVES TRIPOLI FOR TURKS

ROME, June 27.—Macaroni, favorite dish of the Italians, is all that has stood in the way of the conquering of Tripoli, and Cirenaica. Packed and labeled as macaroni, this powder has been sent through to the Arabs without apparently violating the international agreements against contraband of war. Without this ruse, the Arabs long ago would have been out of ammunition, the government asserts.
